

SELECTED LAW REGARDING WSBA (1933 on)

State Law:

- 1933 – State Bar Act – Creates Washington State Bar Association as an agency of the state; recognizes Supreme Court authority over admissions, licensing and discipline; establishes BOG.
- 1972 - State ex rel. Schwab v. Wash. State Bar Ass’n, 80 Wn.2d 266, 493 P.2d 1237 (1972) – “In short, membership in the state bar association and authorization to continue in the practice of law coexist under the aegis of one authority, the Supreme Court.” – Affirms WSBA’s regulatory function and holds that its principal place of business need not be in Olympia as required of state executive offices; Bar is “Sui generis”.
- 1972 – In re Schatz, 80 Wn.2d 604, 497 P.2d 153 (1972) – “The language of [RCW 2.48.060] clearly lodges all ultimate authority in the Supreme Court. The [BOG], acting in this area, is an arm of the court, independent of legislative direction.” – upheld BOG policy requiring (at that time) graduation from ABA-approved law school for admission to practice.
- 1975 - In re Bannister, 86 Wn2d 176, 543 P.2d 237 (1975) – refers to the WSBA as a “public rather than a private agency”.
- 1976 - Graham v. Wash. State Bar Ass’n, 86 Wn.2d 624, 548 P.2d 310 (1976) – “The [Washington State Bar Association] is responsible to the Supreme Court, not the legislature or an agency of the executive branch, for the delineation of its responsibilities in the admission, discipline and enrollment of lawyers.” – Noted that WSBA is sui generis, not funded by legislative appropriation, and “[a]nnual dues are collected under the authority of [the Supreme Court]”; held that WSBA is not a “state department or agency” within the meaning of state audit statutes.
- 1981 - Bennion, Van Camp, Hagen & Ruhl v. Kassler Escrow, Inc., 96 Wn.2d 443, 635 P.2d 730 (1981) – The WSBA furthers the Washington Supreme Court’s “duty...’to protect the public from the activity of those who, because of lack of professional skills, may cause injury whether they are members of the bar or persons never qualified for or admitted to the bar” – by conducting its regulatory function and administering the court rules governing the practice of law.
- 1987 - GR 12 adopted, setting forth the purposes and authorized functions of the WSBA.
- 12 WA Supreme Court inherent and plenary authority to regulate practice of law
 - 12.1 Regulatory Objectives
 - 12.2 WA Supreme Court supervises WSBA; authorized purposes and prohibited activities
 - 12.3 WSBA administration of Supreme Court created boards and committees
 - 12.4 WSBA public records rule
- 1995 - Wash. State Bar Ass’n v. State, 125 Wn.2d 901, 890 P.2d 1047 (1995) – “This court’s control over Bar Association functions is not limited to admissions and discipline of lawyers. The control extends to ancillary administrative functions as well.” – Held the Legislature could not mandate that WSBA engage in collective bargaining, because “[t]he ultimate power to regulate court-related functions, including the administration of the Bar Association, belongs exclusively to this court”; noted the WSBA is sui generis.

1999 - Benjamin v. Wash. State Bar Ass'n, 138 Wn.2d 506, 980 P.2d 742 (1999) -- the Court treated WSBA as a governmental employer for purposes of First Amendment employee speech analysis.

2018 - In the Matter of the Approval of Amendments to WSBA Bylaws Regarding Members of the Board of Governors, No. 25700-B-583 (Jan. 4, 2018) (approving WSBA Bylaws Amendments increasing the size and makeup of the WSBA Board of Governors) – “[WSBA] serves as an arm of the Court in regulating and administering licenses . . . and effectuating other purposes and functions as set forth in [GR 12, 12.1-12.5]. The Court’s control over the WSBA extends to ancillary administrative functions as well, including the administration of the organization.”

2020-In the matter of the Approval of Amendments to the WSBA Bylaws passed by the WSBA Board of Governors in January and march 2020, No. 25700-B-612 (April 3, 2020). Court approved Bylaw changes returning the WSBA Board of Governors to the pre-2018 size and makeup (eliminating the public members on the Board).

2018 - In the Matter of the Supreme Court’s Review of 2019 License Fees and Client Protection Fund Assessments for WSBA Members, No. 25700-B-587 (Sept. 6, 2018) (approving WSBA’s 2019 license fees for LPOs and LLTs, with exceptions) – “The Court considered the license fees as established by the Board of Governors and unanimously determined that the increase to the license fee for active LPOs and LLLTs is unreasonable and that a license fee of $200 for both LPOs and LLTs, as recommended by the WSBA Budget and Audit Committee, is reasonable”; the Court approved the recommendation that LLLTs contribute to the Client Protection Fund, and rejected that recommendation for LPOs.

2019-In the Matter of the Supreme Court’s Review of Client Protection Fund Assessments for WSBA Members, No. 25700-B-599 (Dec. 13, 2019). Decreased Client Protection Fund Assessment from $30 to $25 beginning in calendar year 2021.

2020-In the Matter of the Supreme Court’s Review of Client Protection Fund Assessments for WSBA Members, No 25700-B-641 (Sept. 9, 2020). Decreasing the Client Protection Fund Assessment from $25 to $10 for calendar year 2021 only. Returning the Assessment to $25 beginning in 2022 calendar year.

2019- Lincoln Beauregard v. WSBA, 19-2-08028-1 SEA (April 11, 2019 Order on Motion for Preliminary Injunction) Superior Court issued an order that WSBA comply with the Open Public Meetings Act. Oral argument before Washington Supreme Court held June 23, 2020. Opinion expected 2020-2021.

2019- Letter from Mary E. Fairhurst, Chief Justice of the Washington Supreme Court (Oct. 21, 2019). Bylaw amendments are subject to the Court’s approval.

Federal law:

1990- Keller v. State Bar of California, 496 U.S.1 (1990). State Bar may constitutionally use compelled license fees to fund activities germane to regulating the legal profession and improving the quality of legal services. State Bar may not constitutionally use compelled license fees to fund activities of a political or ideological nature that are not necessarily or reasonably incurred for purposes of regulating the legal profession or improving the quality of legal services provided to the people of the State.

2018- Janus v. Am. Fed'n of State, Cty., & Mun. Emps., Counsel 31, 138 S.Ct. 2448 (2018).

Prohibits public sector unions from collecting agency fees from nonmembers unless employees affirmatively consent to pay. Janus explicitly overruled Abood v. Detroit Bd. of Educ., 431 U.S. 209 (1977), one of the cases underpinning Keller. Janus did not explicitly overrule Keller. Several cases claim that Janus prohibits, or should be extended to prohibit, state bars from compelling membership and using compelled license fees for political purposes without prior consent (violations of First and Fourteenth Amendments). (Cases filed in LA, MI, ND, OK, OR (2), TX, WA, and WI (2)). To date, all cases have found that Keller was not overruled by Janus and remains good law.

- 2010 - Eugster v. Washington State Bar Ass'n, No. CV 09-357-SMM, 2010 WL 2926237 (E.D. Wash. July 23, 2010) -- the district court held that the WSBA is a state agency for purposes of Eleventh Amendment immunity from suit in federal court. The Ninth Circuit affirmed on other grounds without reaching the issue. 474 F. App'x 624 (9th Cir. July 17, 2012).
- 2015 - Eugster v. Washington State Bar Ass'n, No. C15-0375JLR, 2015 WL 51757722 (W.D. Wash. Sept. 3, 2015) -- the court held that because the WSBA acts as the "investigative arm" of the Washington Supreme Court, it is "a state agency immunized from suit [in federal court] by the Eleventh Amendment." The Ninth Circuit affirmed on other grounds without reaching the issue. 684 F. App'x 618, 2017 WL 1055620 (9th Cir. Mar. 21, 2017).
- 2015 - Block v. Washington State Bar Ass'n, No. C15-2018RSM, 2016 WL 1464467 (W.D. Wash. Apr. 13, 2016), appeal dismissed, No. 16-35274 (9th Cir. Sept. 28, 2016), the court held that because the WSBA acts as the "investigative arm" of the Washington Supreme Court, it is "a state agency immunized from suit [in federal court] by the Eleventh Amendment."
- 2015- N.C. State Bd. of Dental Exam'rs v. FTC 135 S. Ct. 1101(2015), the Court clarified that in order to have antitrust immunity under the state action doctrine, state boards with a controlling number of decision makers who are active market participants in the occupation the board regulates must be (1) acting under a clearly articulated and affirmatively expressed state policy, and (2) actively supervised by their state actor that is not a participant in the regulated market.
